

RESPECT

The bison represents respect because it helps people live by providing clothing, food, shelter and medicine.

Respect includes respect for yourself, for others (children, adults, friends, parents, teachers), for other cultures and beliefs, for property and for our world (animals, plants, water, environment). Respect happens everywhere; at home, at school, everywhere we go. It is a necessary life skill.