

Reading Response Menu-2

Choose one or two reading activities to write about in your notebook each day. Highlight or put a checkmark on the square you have completed.

Write an interview with a character from your book. Include questions you would ask. Answer these questions from the character's point of view.	Pick a character from the story who reminds you of someone you know. Explain why. (Text-Self Connection)	Write a new ending to the story. This ending should be at least one full page in length.	Write a letter to the author. Include 5 questions you would like to ask the author? In your letter, explain what you liked or disliked about the story.
Add a new chapter somewhere in the book. Think about how this would change the story.	Summarize events from one chapter by creating a comic strip. Include at least 6 squares.	Who is your least favourite character and why? Sketch a picture of that character.	Draw a map of the setting of the book. Include colour and label important places from the setting.
Choose 1 to 2 characters who change throughout the story. Explain how they they change?	What was your favourite part or chapter in the story that you have read so far? Explain why.	If you could be any character in the story who would it be and why? Sketch a picture of that character	Design a poster advertising your book. Include interesting details that would persuade others to read this book.
Make 3 predictions about what may happen in the next chapters you are going to read. Record what actually happens.	Become a character from the story. Write a diary entry from this character's point of view.	How is this book similar to another story you have read? (Text-Text Connection)	Create a story outline for a prequel or sequel to this book. Provide as many details as possible about the characters, plot and setting.