NEWSLETTER

November 2023

Dear Strathcona Families,

We are now into November and Daylight Savings Time has come to an end, meaning an extra hour of sleep. Students are reflecting in classrooms about their learning so far this term, and can't wait to share their growth with you at Student Led Conferences. Please send back your preferred conference times, and a time will be assigned for your family to visit classrooms on November 16th and 17th. This is an opportunity for students to review their learning portfolios with you, and the teacher will be available to answer any questions about report cards or your child's learning.

On Friday November 3rd, our staff participated in a teacher led workshop with a focus on "Steam" learning (which stands for science, technology, engineering, arts, and math). Staff worked and collaborated in groups to create with different building materials, which was a fun and engaging way to learn. We can't wait to show you all of the things students have been working on in a few weeks at Student Led Conferences! Please see the important dates regarding report cards and conferences on page 3.

Take care and see you soon!
